Ulistic DEEP DIVE Service

Have you heard of Gordon Ramsey's "Hotel Hell" or "Kitchen Nightmares?" Gordon Ramsey, world renowned Michelin star Chef, who currently holds 12 Michelin stars, works with hotel and restaurant owners and their staff members to work out kinks in the businesses' overall performance. Ulistic is now offering this type of service to managed services providers.

The heart of any business is the people working for the company. The most valuable assets are your clients and your employees. Ulistic will focus on the following core areas to improve processes, operation efficiency and overall execution:

We will focus on marketing, sales, service delivery, accounting and company operations over the course of our one-month engagement.

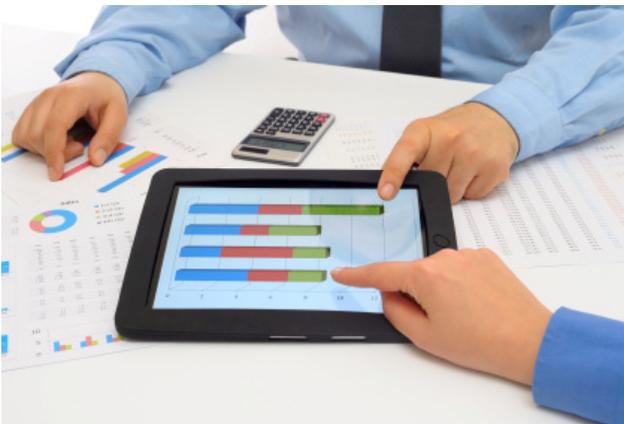

When was the last time you conducted a DEEP DIVE analysis on your MSP business?

Do you fully understand everything that could affect your business? Inside and out?

Are you happy with everything that is happening with your business?

Ulistic focuses on helping IT organizations succeed. That is our mission and our purpose. We are here to help you! Nothing more, nothing less.

When you engage in the Ulistic DEEP DIVE program, you will walk away with a firm understanding of all your strengths and weaknesses. You will have a clear picture of the opportunities in the marketplace and what threats may be coming your way.

The Ulistic DEEP DIVE process is a one-month engagement. It first starts with our onboarding call. During this 60-minute call, all owners will meet with Ulistic and discuss the history of your MSP, current successes and challenges and the company vision for the future. There will be homework that must be completed.

The next step consists of the onsite visit. During this time, we will pull back all the layers of your organization and review everything happening in your business.

All staff and Ulistic will meet and get a temperature reading of the organization. Ulistic will meet one-on-one with all stakeholders and key staff. We will also have an all-staff meeting without the owners to get your employees' feel for how the organization runs.

Upon completion of our one-day onsite meeting, Ulistic will help prepare a battle plan to help guide your managed services business into the future.

We believe in execution. Ulistic will not simply give you a plan and say, "There you go". Over the course of the remaining time in the month, Ulistic will hold four consulting calls with all members of the team to ensure execution occurs.
